Ear Crop Policy

Ear Cropping is an elective, non-essential, cosmetic, medical procedure. This surgical procedure is performed under general anesthesia using sterile surgical instruments. There is no guarantee that the ears will be perfect and the results are subjective.

Please keep in mind that every attempt is made to get the ears to stand erect. However, not every dog's ears will stand erect. Sometimes one ear will flop and sometimes both ears will flop, due to a variety of reasons. It is our policy to rack the ears on some breeds and not on others. The ears can be racked when the incisions have healed.

Again, there is no guarantee that the ears will stand. If these conditions are not acceptable with you, we will not do the ear crop procedure.
